

Answer:

Although the base and height measurements are the same, the angles of the two figures are not congruent.

In addition, one figure can be classified as a rectangle while the other cannot.